

Dr. James Simon is Clinical Professor of Obstetrics and Gynecology at the George Washington University in Washington, DC, USA. He is certified by the American Board of Obstetrics and Gynecology (ABOG) in both obstetrics and gynecology, and reproductive endocrinology and infertility; by the International Society for Clinical Densitometry (ISCD) as a Certified Clinical Densitometrist (CCD); by the North American Menopause Society (NAMS) as a Certified Menopause Practitioner (NCMP); by the International Society for the Study of Women's Sexual Health (ISSWSH) as an ISSWSH Fellow (IF); and by the American Association of Sexuality Educators, Counselors, and Therapists (AASECT) as a Certified Sexuality Counselor.

Dr. Simon's research has been supported by more than 360 research grants and scholarships from a wide range of sponsors, including The NIH, The American Heart Association, The Heinz Foundation and the pharmaceutical industry. Dr. Simon is a former President of the North American Menopause Society and the Washington Gynecologic Society. He served as a member of the Board of Trustees of: The North American Menopause Society, The International Society for Clinical Densitometry, and the American Society of Breast Disease (ASBD). He is currently President-Elect of The International Society for the Study of Women's Sexual Health (ISSWSH) following his service to that organization as treasurer and secretary, and is Chair, Ethics Committee of the International Society for Sexual Medicine (ISSM).

A short-list of his other honors and achievements includes being selected to "Top Washington Physicians," "America's Top Obstetricians and Gynecologists", and "The Best Doctors in America".

Dr. Simon is an author or co-author of more than 550 peer reviewed articles, chapters, textbooks, abstracts, and other publications, including several prize-winning papers. Dr. Simon is coauthor of the paperback book: "Restore Yourself: A Woman's Guide to Reviving Her Sexual Desire and Passion for Life".

022017